PROJECTS

Smart Street Light for Energy Conservation | AVR, Arduino IDE, C++, Sensors | LINK

Apr'25

- Engineered an automated street light system using an AVR microcontroller to monitor real-time vehicle movement based on real-time sensor data.
- Designed threshold-based pump control logic with relay switching to automatically turn on the street lights when a car passes, preventing unnecessary over-lighting.
- Assembled a hardware prototype using a sensor, relay module, and DC supply for automatic lighting in road applications.

Aquaponic System – Soilless Plant Cultivation | Sensors | LINK

Feb'25

- Conceived an automated aquaponic platform for growing plants without soil using fish, supporting sustainable agricultural practices.
- Designed pump control logic with relay switching to circulate water automatically between the fish tank and plants.
- Assembled a working prototype using a soil moisture sensor, relay module, and DC water pump for automatic irrigation, reducing manual effort and supporting sustainable agricultural practices.
